Herbert 'Herbie' Roberts

19th February 1905 - 19th June 1944

Association Football - Centre Half

Herbie Roberts 1936

Born in Oswestry in 1905, Herbie Roberts, tall, auburn-haired and ideally built for football, first played as an amateur for Oswestry Town at right half in the defensive mid-field.

In December 1926, the famous Arsenal manager Herbert Chapman persuaded Roberts to turn professional and join Arsenal for a transfer fee of £200. Although he made his debut against Aston Villa on 18 April 1927, Roberts was not a regular in his first 2 seasons at the club and played only 5 games.

In response to changes in the offside rule in 1925, Arsenal pioneered changes to their team formation, creating a defensive centre half position, a 3rd full back to block the gap in between the 2 full backs and link up with the inside forwards; Roberts fitted into the position perfectly. This became known as the "WM" formation in which Roberts became known as the "stopper" or the "policeman", rarely moving upfield.

Finishing only in 14th place in the league in the 1929-30 season, Arsenal fared better in the FA Cup that year, progressing to the final where they beat Huddersfield Town 2-0, although Roberts was prevented by injury from taking part. Roberts became the undisputed first choice centre half for Arsenal. "Off the field Herbie was a gentleman, shy and unassuming, on the field he was known as Policeman Roberts whose main aim was to blot out and stop the opponents' centre-forward and these policies made him into one of the most unpopular players the length and breadth of the country." considers author Jeff Harris. Whilst opposition fans may have seen him as guilty of overly negative play, Roberts was the model for all defenders until the 4-4-2 formation came along with, effectively, 2 central defenders.

A Highbury favourite, Roberts made 30 appearances for each season up until 1936-37, winning 4 First Division titles and an FA Cup Winner's medal in 1935-36. Roberts also won a single international cap for England in a match against Scotland in March 1931.

Roberts struggled with injuries throughout his long and successful career and a broken leg forced him to retire from the game early in the 1937-38 season. He had played in 335 league and cup games for Arsenal and scored 5 goals. After retirement, Roberts worked as a trainer to Arsenal's reserve side.

On the breakout of World War II, Roberts joined the Royal Fusiliers and served as a lieutenant. He died whilst on duty on 19th June 1944 at the age of 39 from erysipelas, an acute streptococcus bacterial infection.

George Rowlands Antonio

20th October 1914 - 2nd July 1997

Association Football - Inside Forward

Born George Rowlands in Whitchurch in 1914, Antonio adopted the surname of the Italian family who brought him up.

A very capable inside forward or right half, Antonio progressed from Oswestry Technical College and non-League Oswestry Town to play with Bolton Wanderers as an amateur, before joining Colwyn Bay United in September 1935.

Turning professional, Antonio signed for Stoke City in February 1936 making 84 appearances and scoring 13 goals for them before World War II brought Football League fixtures to a halt. As many players signed up to fight in the war, the teams who continued to play were depleted and often fielded guest players.

Antonio guested for several clubs during the war, including Nottingham Forest in 1939-40, 1940-41 and in 1941-42 and Leeds United in early 1944. In the 1945-46 season, he guested for Ipswich Town. Other clubs Antonio guested for included: York City in 1939-40; Aldershot in 1943-44 and in 1944-45; Clapton Orient in 1944-45; Norwich City in 1945-46; Notts County in 1942-43 and 1943-44; Wrexham in 1939-40, 1941-42 and in 1944-45. Antonio also guested for his own club Stoke City, once in 1939-40, and then in the final wartime season of 1945-46, when he scored 7 times in 16 games, as things started to return to normal for the 1946-47 season.

After the war, Antonio rejoined Stoke City before being transferred to Derby County in March 1947 where he played 18 matches, scoring twice. In October 1948, he signed to Doncaster Rovers, appearing 34 times and scoring 7 goals, before signing for Mansfield Town for £7,000 a year later where he stayed until July 1951 playing 67 times, and scoring twice, before the end of his League career.

Antonio, however, was not going to give up playing, and returned to his first club, non-League Oswestry Town, in July 1951 where he became Player-Manager. He joined Wellington Town as Player-Coach in July 1954, and was Player-Manager there from January 1955 until January 1957. He moved to Stafford Rangers as Player-Manager in September 1957 before rejoining Oswestry Town once more as Player-Coach in July 1958, becoming Player-Manager in June 1959, a position he held until June 1962.

Antonio's final club was the Welsh club Berriew where he was Player-Manager in 1963-64. The club held a memorable testimonial for him in 1968, attracting a huge crowd as Sir Stanley Matthews, alongside whom he had played at Stoke City, brought a Port Vale team to play. He is further remembered by Berriew with the George Antonio Trophy, which has been presented to the club's player of the year since 2007.

George Antonio died in Oswestry in 1997.

William Henry Davies

1855 – 14th November 1916

Association Football - Inside Forward

William Henry Davies was born in Oswestry in 1855 where he lived most of his life. After school, Davies worked in the office of the County Court Registrar before becoming a solicitors' accounts clerk. Later he became the part-time Registrar of Births and Deaths in Oswestry.

Davies was a pioneer of football in the town, and first played for Oswestry St Oswalds, the first football club established in the town, becoming team captain.

On 4 September 1875, he was present at a meeting at the Queen's Hotel to form an association football club, as an off-shoot of the cricket club, to represent the town. This was the birth of the Oswestry town club, later to evolve as Oswestry Town. Davies was one of the founder members and became the new club's first secretary. At a meeting held on 2 February 1876 at the Wynnstay Arms Hotel in Wrexham, initially to formalise the arrangements for the forthcoming match against

It is likely that Davies appears on this photo of the 1883-84 Welsh Cup winning Oswestry team, taken outside the pavilion at the Victoria Road ground (the Cricket Field), their home ground - but which one is he?

Scotland, Oswestry became one of the founder members of the Football Association of Wales a rare achievement for an English club.

Later that month, Davies was selected to play in that first team to represent Wales on 25 March 1876 in the match against Scotland at Hamilton Crescent, Partick. With Davies playing at outside right in a 2-2-6 formation, the Welsh were well defeated losing 4-0.

Davies was described as "equally at home as a forward or half back (who) could pass the ball accurately and possessed good dribbling skills"; he was also sometimes criticized for selfishness, although "his presence as a forward always meant danger for opposing defences."

In 1879, local rival team Druids were without a ground and several of their players spent the season with Oswestry, so that for the first international match between Wales and England on 18 January 1879, 8 Oswestry players, including Davies, were selected to play for Wales. The match was played at a snow-covered Kennington Oval, London in atrocious weather conditions with the team captains agreeing to play only 30 minutes in each half. England scored twice in the first half, with Davies scoring his country's first international goal, in the 47th minute. Wales lost 2-1.

In the 1883-84 season, Davies helped Oswestry to the final of the Welsh Cup where they defeated Druids 1-0 in a replay.

Davies was also a keen cricketer and played for Shropshire between 1882 and 1893, before the birth of the modern county club, making nearly 40 appearances for the county as wicket-keeper.

He died in Oswestry on 14 November 1916.

Edward Glyn James

b 17th December 1941

Association Football - Centre Half

Glyn James was born in Llangollen in December 1941 but spent his boyhood in Shropshire. Educated at Oswestry Boys' High School, and a contemporary of Alan Ball, James played for the school team as well as Gobowen Juniors and the Druids club.

In December 1957, James joined Blackpool as a trainee and turned professional as a 17 year old centre or inside forward in May 1959, making his debut in September 1960 for the team where he was to spend his whole professional career.

By 1963, James became a first team regular at centre half; an extended run in the team in 1964-65 saw him earn his first Welsh U23 cap in November 1964, playing against England at Wrexham, when Blackpool team mate Alan Ball played in the English attack.

In 1965 he played in 35 League matches and took part in a tour of New Zealand and the Far East with Blackpool.

On 22 January 1966, James scored his first goal, against Manchester City, in the FA Cup third round. He made his 100th appearance for Blackpool that season and went on the Welsh international tour of South America making his full international debut against Brazil, including the great Pele.

During 1976-70, James was a strong presence in the Blackpool side who suffered both relegation then promotion and was named the Blackpool's Player of the Year in 1970 for his outstanding consistency. However, the subsequent 1970-71 season was a disaster for Blackpool, and they were relegated straight back to Division Two.

James was selected for all 3 Home International Championship matches in 1971, and although he was voted one of the outstanding successes of the championships, further international opportunities were limited by the presence of contemporary Welshman Mike England, and James made no further appearances for Wales.

Moved to the forward line for the first part of 1971-72, James scored 6 goals in those 15 games, but the arrival of Keith Dyson, and the team's habit of losing by the odd goal, meant that he was moved back into defence, and Blackpool went on to finish sixth. James took over the captaincy of the team from Jimmy Armfield during that season and made his 350th appearance for the club.

In his final season, 1974-75, James made 12 league appearances, helping Blackpool to a top 10 finish for the 4th consecutive season. He made his final appearance on 18 January 1975.

Charles Frederick 'Charlie' Parry

1870 - 4th February 1922

Association Football - Half Back/Full Back

Born in Llansilin, near Oswestry in 1870, Parry joined Chester St Oswalds from where he was signed by Everton in 1889. Parry made his Everton League debut in the first match of 1889-90, the Football League's second season. Parry was ever-present as Everton finished runners up.

Parry was a versatile player who was equally comfortable at full or half back, and had good positional sense, a strong tackle and good speed. A free kick expert, over 60 yards he was able to place the ball "on the required spot". His reputation for "bashing goalkeepers" did not stop him becoming a regular in the Everton side for 6 years and an "exceedingly popular player".

Parry spent the early part of 1890-91 in the reserves, but, after being recalled, he played most of the rest of the season as Everton were champions of the Football League for the first time.

After playing at left half in the first match of the 1891-92 season, Parry again lost his regular place and in October 1891 he requested to leave the club and the board agreed to release him if he could find another team to compensate Everton. In December 1892, Parry was re-engaged by Everton and returned to the first team at left back in January 1893, although he was not selected to play in any of the cup matches which saw Everton reach the final of the FA Cup that year.

In September 1893, Parry was suspended for 2 weeks without pay, and could not get back into a settled first team until 23 December. After a run of 4 defeats, Parry lost his place again and, in March, was in trouble with the board "for not attending training etc" and was suspended for a fortnight with his bonuses revoked, and only recalled for the last 2 matches of the season.

The 1894-95 season saw Parry make the left back position his own and he missed only 3 matches as Everton finished League runners-up. Parry only made 2 appearances for Everton in the 1895-96 season; his final appearance coming in a loss to Aston Villa on 30 September 1895.

In autumn 1895, Parry made a short-lived move to Manchester City, failing to appear for them, and returned to Wales in December 1895 when he took a public house in Newtown and joined his local club helping Newtown reach the final of the Welsh Cup in 1897.

Parry made 13 appearances for Wales, making his debut, at left half in the 1891 match against England. Parry's best match for Wales came in the draw against England in March 1895, and, for the next 3 matches, Parry was appointed captain. In 1899, Parry joined Aberystwyth Town. Despite playing non-League football, Parry retained his international place until 1898.

Returning to his home town in 1900, Oswestry United were in need of a goalkeeper and Parry kept goal for them before eventually retiring in 1906.

Sadly, Parry had fallen on hard times and was the beneficiary of two further testimonial matches. Parry's health continued to deteriorate and he died on 4 February 1922, aged 51, leaving a widow and 6 children.

John Godfrey Parry-Thomas

6th April 1884 - 3rd March 1927

Engineer and Motor - Racing Driver

John Godfrey Parry-Thomas was born in Wrexham in 1884 and moved near to Oswestry with his family when he was 5 years old when his father became the vicar of Bwlch-y-Cibau. Educated at Oswestry School, he showed an early entrepreneurial streak as he is said to have raffled his sixpence-a-week pocket money at a penny a chance to as many takers as he could find.

Parry-Thomas was fascinated with engineering and went on to study at the City & Guilds Engineering College in London in 1902. After many jobs and groundbreaking designs, he became Chief Engineer at Leyland Motors. In 1917 he and his assistant started to design the Leyland Eight luxury motor car, intended to be the world's finest car and a competitor to Rolls-Royce. Although a technical triumph, it was too expensive to be anything other than a commercial failure and few cars were made.

Parry-Thomas had tested each Leyland Eight to 100 mph before delivery, at a time when the World Land Speed Record (WLSR) was only 124mph! By 1920, this experience persuaded Parry-Thomas to give up his well-paid job and become a full-time motor-racing driver and engineer.

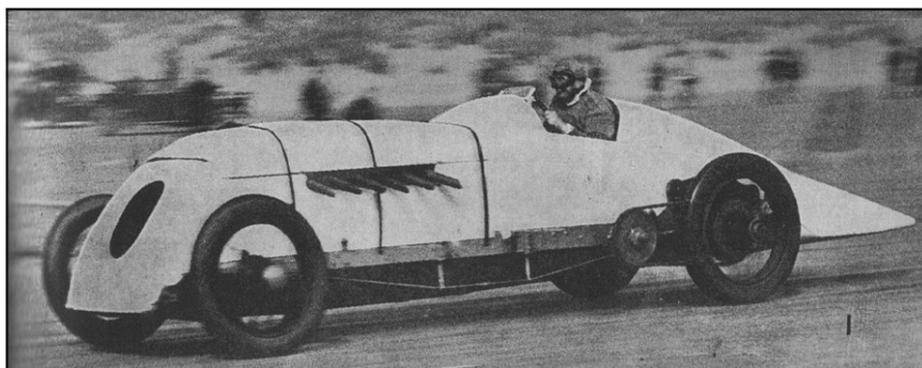

Now living and working at the Brooklands circuit, Parry-Thomas dedicated himself to the life of a motor-racing driver and achieved some success, winning 38 races in 5 seasons and setting numerous records, driving the Leyland-Thomas and Thomas Special cars.

By 1925 Parry-Thomas realised that commercial success required a higher profile than Brooklands could offer, and directed his attention to the WLSR in competition with Malcolm Campbell and Henry Segrave. Without Campbell's money and prestige, and Segrave's factory connections, Parry-Thomas bought the incomplete Higham Special car from the estate of Count Zborowski for £125, and spent another £650 to make it a serious contender as one of the first cars dedicated to the record alone rather than circuit competition.

By April 1926, renamed 'Babs', the car was finally complete and a few days later, despite the poor conditions and soft, wet sand, 'Babs' was taken to the 6-mile beach at Pendine Sands, Wales where Parry-Thomas took the WLSR with a speed of 169.30 mph. The following day, 28 April 1926, he went above 170 mph, a record that stood for almost a year.

1926 was Parry-Thomas' greatest year; as well as numerous race wins he twice broke the mile and kilometre WLSR then went on to break another 8 speed records in October.

In January 1927, Campbell achieved a top speed of 174.883 mph to retake the WLSR on the same beach. On 3 March 1927, feeling unwell, but knowing his competitors were planning fresh attempts, Parry-Thomas returned to Pendine to attempt the record. On his final run the right-hand drive chain broke at a speed of around 175 mph, fatally injuring Parry-Thomas.

Stephen Davies b 4th February 1958 Long Distance Runner

Born in Oswestry in 1958, Stephen took up running at the age of 23 during the 'jogging boom' that followed the first London Marathon in March 1981 and started to train 3 times a week.

Stephen entered his first race, the Oswestry 10 mile road race, on 16 May 1982, finishing in 74 minutes and 40 seconds; the start of a running career he enjoys to this day. Running his first marathon in Sheffield later that year, Stephen finished in 3 hours 32 minutes and improved his time by 2 minutes in the Nottingham marathon 3 months later.

Joining the Berry Hill Mansfield Athletics Club in November 1982, he started to compete in cross country and track races, moving to the newly formed Mansfield Running Club in 1986 to focus on road running. Stephen had now reduced his marathon time to 2 hours 36 minutes.

Still coaching himself, Stephen ran 3 marathons in 1988, the last being in a time of 2 hours 28 minutes, before getting in touch with Bud Baldaro, a National Marathon Coach at the well known Tipton Harriers Club in the West Midlands, to start to develop himself into a marathon runner.

Stephen running for Mansfield in a local road race, May 2012

During 1989, Stephen lowered his marathon time to 2 hours 25 minutes and 55 seconds. However, in the 1990 London Marathon, 9 years after the event that inspired him to take up running, Stephen ran a lifetime best of 2 hours 22 minutes and 55 seconds. He was rewarded for this performance with a trip to the Berlin Marathon later that year to represent Great Britain (GB) where he finished 60th in 2 hours 24 minutes 18 seconds, the 4th placed British athlete.

In September 1991, Stephen represented the Midlands AAA's in The Lake Vyrnwy Half Marathon running a lifetime best of 1 hour 8 minutes 20 seconds finishing 13th overall. Stephen continued this good form with his first ever marathon win at Chesterfield in a time of 2 hours 29 minutes and 13 seconds

In September 1991, Stephen represented the Midlands AAA's in The Lake Vyrnwy Half Marathon running a lifetime best of 1 hour 8 minutes 20 seconds finishing 13th overall.

Stephen was again selected to run for GB in 1992 in the Hong Kong to Shenzhen Marathon, finishing in 9th place with a time of 2 hours 25 minutes and 07 seconds, helping GB to the team win.

In 1995 both Mansfield clubs amalgamated and Stephen rejoined taking with him everything that he had been coached and learnt during his very successful 7 years with Bud and Tipton Harriers.

1998 brought veteran status for Stephen and he started to compete for the North Wales Area team in Cross Country and Road Running, as he still does, representing them on 25 occasions to date. He has also represented GB twice in the Marathon at the World Masters Track & Field Championships in San Sebastian 2005 and Rimini 2007.

To date Stephen has completed 1,150 races of which 52 have been marathons (highlights include London 20 [times], New York 2, Chicago, the 100th Boston Marathon in 1996 and Reims 4) and 102 half marathons. Through all of which he has been supported by his wife Angela.

Harry Weetman

25th October 1920 - 19th July 1972

Professional Golfer

Harry Weetman was born just after the First World War to a working class family at Queens Head. Family legend has it that he used to jump the fence by the canal onto the golf course to get balls that he sold back to the pro shop and so bought his first clubs.

Starting out as a forester before the days of chainsaws, his skills with an axe made him stand out as a golfer known for his strength and the length of his drives. During World War II, he served in the Welsh Regiment 6th Armoured division. He would never speak about this time.

In 1949 he won the Hertfordshire tournament and the Assistant Professionals Championship. In 1950 he was the PGA Match Play Champion and in 1951 the youngest Ryder Cup team member.

Harry moved from Oswestry to Hartsbourne Manor and from there to Croham Hurst in South London where he set a course record and equalled the world record with a round of 58 which still stands today. Finally, he moved just a few miles to the prestigious Selsdon Park Hotel.

Harry was one of the first Europeans to play the US circuit where, at this time, the Americans played a larger ball, although the same weight. Harry's strength made it easier for him to adapt to it, and, on his return playing with the smaller ball, his reputation as a big-hitter was born.

Harry's wife Freda, a successful golfer and businesswoman in her own right, became Harry's business manager. A female manager was unheard of in golfing circles, the preserve of men. Women were generally not allowed in the clubhouse unaccompanied, if at all. Harry and Freda were bound to rub the establishment up the wrong way at some point.

Harry & Freda with the golfer & good friend Henry Cotton

After one tournament win, Harry and Freda were entering the clubhouse for the presentation only to be told politely that wives were not permitted. Arguing that Freda was his manager cut no ice, so Harry refused to enter. Freda was eventually admitted but the establishment took their revenge. Following a disagreement with Ryder Cup captain Dai Rees, Harry was fined and suspended. Refusing to pay, he was told the suspension would stand until the fine was paid. The press kept the battle in the public eye, and the appearance of the management of the sport left some people feeling very uncomfortable. The impasse was broken when the fine was paid anonymously. However the genie was out of the bottle and golf would never be the same again.

Harry's final honour was to be made Ryder Cup captain in 1965 by the very establishment that had railed against him.

Harry was always safety conscious and bought a Rolls Royce as he argued that there was a lot of car in front of the driver. After one day at Lingfield races, he asked a friend to drive him home. His friend was however unable to handle a Rolls and the car left the road, hit a bank and Harry was fatally injured. He had played his part in moving the game from a sport of the privileged few, into the modern popular sport for all. He was just 51.

Anji Holly Gemma Weetman

b 4th October 1987

Long Jumper and Heptathlete

Born in Shrewsbury in 1987, Gemma Weetman had her first taste of running when, as a pupil at Whittington Primary School, she ran in the Oswestry & District Primary Schools Cross Country competition. Afraid of coming last, Gemma plucked up the courage in time to enter the 2nd meeting and came 5th. After the final meeting, local coach Arnie Wray recommended that Gemma join Oswestry Olympians, the local athletics club, and in April the following year, she started training at the Park Hall track and loved it all from the moment she arrived. Specialising at first in the middle distance events such as the 600m, she always trained and competed in a variety of events; drifting between Cross Country and longer distances and the Long Jump as she grew older.

Whilst a pupil at The Marches School, Gemma first competed at the English Schools' Athletic Association Championships in the Long Jump event in Nottingham in 2002 coming 2nd with a distance of 5.29m. In the same year, she competed in her first English Schools Combined Event in Derby where she came 24th in the Junior Girls Pentathlon.

The following year, now up in the Intermediate age group, Gemma suffered from a stress fracture to her back forcing her to miss 3 months training, but was back to fitness in time to compete in both English Schools' events in 2003, coming 6th and 15th respectively.

Gemma's first international competition came in 2004 when she competed in the English Schools' Internationals in July and December.

In 2005, her first year in the Senior age group, Gemma won 2 English Schools' medals, including her first Gold in the Heptathlon. 2006 was her most successful year, winning Gold in both the Long Jump and the Heptathlon events at the English Schools leading to her first GB selection for the U20 team in Paris in the Indoor Pentathlon. Gemma won this event with a performance which placed her 5th overall in the all time U20 rankings. She competed again for GB in Switzerland in the Heptathlon where she achieved an individual Bronze and team Gold.

Gemma moved down to London in 2007 to study Sports Science at Brunel University training at the Lee Valley High Performance Centre under the supervision of Greg Richards. With a first class honours degree, she now lectures foundation degree students, as well as running and coaching a college athletics programme.

In 2012 so far she has won the National Indoor Pentathlon and Bronze in the National Indoor Long Jump championship, represented GB in Tenerife in May 2012 coming 4th in the Heptathlon with a PB in the Shot and overall score. Her present coach is Julie Hollman (GB Heptathlete). Aiming to improve upon both of these this year, Gemma hopes to get to a major championship competition within the next couple of years.

Gemma thanks "those that encouraged me to get into athletics, as well as the fantastic club Oswestry Olympians and all those that assist within the club. I would recommend to everyone to try all sports; like me you may be afraid to try and scared you will fail, however, it could be the best decision you ever make."

Charles Emrys Jones

1st November 1931 - 7th September 2011

Lightweight Boxer

Emrys Jones was born in Llanfechain in November 1931. During World War II, Emrys' father, a farm labourer, moved his family to a small rented farm next to Emrys' grandparents. Leaving school after the War, aged 14, Emrys went to work on the farm for Tommy Jones.

Although he could remember getting up at 3 o'clock in the morning, at the age of 7 or 8, to listen to a fight on the radio between two of his heroes, Joe Louis and the Welsh champion Tommy Farr, Emrys drifted into boxing only after leaving school. "I started knocking about with the local lads. Just sparring." he said, "We used second hand gloves and gave each other bloody noses, but it was fun."

The lads' enthusiasm and growing skills encouraged Emrys to join organised clubs under the guidance of mentor and coach Billy Roberts of Pant at Trefonen, Queens Head and later at Four Crosses.

In 1948 Emrys turned professional under unusual circumstances. Emrys and Llanymynech fighter Terill Evans had gone to Welshpool where their opponents failed to turn up as arranged for their bouts, so it was decided that they would fight each other, and Emrys won.

After an exhibition fight in Shrewsbury in 1949, his reputation as a knock-out boxer was born with a first round victory over George Higgs in the Newtown Pavilion starting a run of 14 KOs in 22 bouts. His professional career took him to boxing venues all over the country. Like many in those days, Emrys was never a professional in the true sense and continued to supplement his earnings from fighting by labouring back on the farm. He would return home from a bout in the early hours of the morning in time to get up at the break of dawn for work the next day.

In September 1955, Emrys won the Welsh lightweight title with a victory over title holder Willie Lloyd over 12 rounds in Camarthen, the highlight of his career, which earned him just £52.

Emrys made many pals through his boxing career. Contemporary fighters from the Oswestry area included Doug Jones, Dick Grindley, Arthur Lewis, Eddie Farmer and Bernard Thomas. Sadly, Emrys fought only 4 more times after winning his title before rheumatism in his back forced him to retire within a year, at the age of 27. Over his 7 year career, Emrys fought 65 times in all, drawing 10 with the remaining bouts fairly evenly divided between wins and losses. After he retired, he attended only one bout but left before the end and never went to another; the break from boxing was total.

Emrys continued to labour on the farm until foot and mouth hit the industry when he went to work at Whittington Dairy and then the Cheese Company until he retired.

Emrys died in September 2011 aged 79 when his early love of boxing was remembered at his funeral with donations going, in part, to the Oswestry Ringside Gym.

Timothy Andrew Lloyd

b 5th November 1956

First Class Cricketer - Left Handed Bat

Born in Oswestry in 1956, Andy Lloyd attended Oswestry Boys' High School and then Dorset College. A left-handed bat, he played locally for Whittington and Oswestry Clubs.

Spotted playing in a Shropshire U25 side, Lloyd joined the Warwickshire Second XI side in 1977, playing in the Birmingham League. Showing a good attitude and application to improving his game, Lloyd broke into the Warwickshire First XI in 1978.

In 1983, Lloyd was rewarded for consistent scoring at the top of the order when he was called up as England Twelfth man for a Test match in 1983.

In 1984 Lloyd played for the MCC before being selected to play for England against the touring West Indies team when he top-scored in 2 of the 3 ODIs played before the Test series.

Lloyd then became the first Shropshire-born cricketer to play in a home test match when, at the age of 26, he made his Test debut on his home ground at Edgbaston. Opening the batting, he had made 10 runs, and batted for 33 minutes, when he was struck on the head by a short ball from West Indies fast bowler Malcolm Marshall. Despite wearing a helmet, Lloyd spent several days in hospital with blurred vision, and played no further cricket in 1984. Although he was enduringly consistent for Warwickshire, he never played for England again and is the only Test Match opening batsman never to have been dismissed.

Lloyd was club captain from 1988, leading Warwickshire to NatWest Trophy final victory in 1989.

He retired from playing in 1992 having made a total of 17,211 runs in all first-class cricket, with 29 centuries, and taking 23 wickets.

First Class Teams:

Warwickshire (1977-1992), Orange Free State (1978/79, 1979/80), Marylebone Cricket Club (1984), England (Test & ODI 1984)

Fionn Griffiths

b 27th August 1982

Mountain Bike Racer

Born in Shrewsbury in 1982, Fionn attended Baschurch Primary School and The Corbett School before gaining a BTEC National Diploma in Sport Science at Shrewsbury College of Arts & Technology.

It was in 1998, that Fionn first pointed a bike downhill and discovered a natural aptitude for downhill's adrenalin inducing racing. Competing on her paper-round bicycle, bought with earnings from delivering the Shropshire Star, that competition at Hawkstone Park was just the start; six months later, Fionn had won her first British National Championship.

As Fionn trained to become competitive at National competitions, her father Keith built her a bike with suspension enabling her to pursue her dream of becoming a successful Downhill (DH) and Four-Cross (4X) mountain bike racer. During Fionn's career, engineering developments in off-road bikes has moved mountain biking from the domain of the enthusiast to the world of the precision-engineered leisure industry. In addition to riding, Fionn's role has been to raise product profile and contribute technical feedback to aid on-going development.

Since 1999, Fionn has been pleased to represent several bicycle and component development teams, currently, in 2012, TeamGR/KTM. On partnering with Norco Bicycles in 2008, Fionn made the step to form GR Management, offering marketing opportunities to potential Team GR sponsors from within, and external to the cycle industry.

Fionn Griffiths is an International competitor. Previous years' competitions have included racing in Japan, Oceania and South America. In 2012, the UCI World Cup series rounds are in Europe, South Africa, and North America where Fionn will represent Team GR/KTM as well as the other team co sponsors. During 2012 Fionn is required to qualify for the British Cycling mountain bike team, allowing her to defend her 2011 World Championship Silver medal position.

Honoured to have represented Great Britain at both junior and senior level, Fionn has competed at all but one Mountain Bike World Championship since 1998. While most athletes never stand on the Elite podium, Fionn Griffiths has an impressive record. She would say "The only time success comes before sweat is in the dictionary".

Alan James Ball Jr. MBE

12th May 1945 – 25th April 2007

Association Football - Midfield

Born in Farnworth in 1945, Ball spent his childhood in Oswestry, where his father, Alan Ball Sr, was player-manager of Oswestry Town FC. He attended Oswestry Boys High School and learned many of his skills at the old Victoria Road ground.

Ball started his footballing career whilst still a schoolboy, playing for Ashton United, a team managed by his father, and signed a youth contract with Wolverhampton Wanderers. After false starts at both Wolves and Bolton (who thought him too small at 5'6" tall to make a footballer), his professional career began at Blackpool in May 1962 where he made his debut in the August at only 17 years and 91 days old.

Selected for Alf Ramsey's England squad in 1965, Ball was the youngest member of the 1966 World Cup team. In the final, Ball produced a terrific personal performance. Full of running, he continued to work and track back while others were exhausted. Ball was seen as an individual success and attracted the attention of a number of bigger clubs. He was sold to Everton for a fee of £112,000 in August 1966 and helped steer Everton to The FA Cup Final in 1968 and the League title in 1970.

He was now a mainstay in the England team and played in the World Cup in Mexico in 1970. In December 1971, Arsenal paid a record fee of £220,000 for the 26 year old. In 1973, in a World Cup Qualifier, Ball became only the 2nd player to be sent off in a full international. He was suspended for the return fixture, which England drew and missed out on the 1974 World Cup Finals.

Although when fit, Ball was a fixture in the Arsenal team, injuries and the break up of the side, saw Arsenal slump; Ball didn't fit with the new boss and in December 1976, he was sold to Southampton for a fee of £60,000.

After helping Southampton back into the First Division in 1978, Ball moved to the North American Soccer League, playing with Philadelphia Fury and Vancouver Whitecaps, where Vancouver won the NASL Championship and Ball won their Most Valuable Player Award.

Returning to Blackpool as player-manager in February 1980, despite Ball's optimism and enthusiasm, their form slumped and Ball was sacked. Although there were short periods playing at Southampton, Hong Kong side Eastern Athletic and Bristol Rovers, Ball ended his playing days in January 1983 after 975 competitive matches in his 21 year career.

Ball received the MBE for his services to sport in 2000.

Alan Ball died on April 25, 2007 of a heart attack, at his home in Hampshire whilst attempting to put out a garden fire that had got out of control. He was 61.

Neil Roderick Thomas MBE

b 26th April 1968

Artistic Gymnast

Neil Thomas was born in Chirk in April 1968, later moving to Welshampton with his family where he took up Gymnastics at the age of 9, training in the local community centre with Wem Gymnastics Club. Whitchurch coach Tony White spotted his potential and he was selected for the National Training Squad in Birmingham.

His outstanding natural ability and spatial awareness brought him to the notice of coach Mike Weinstock at the leading North Staffs Gymnastics Club at Burslem where Thomas and his family travelled 70 miles a day, 5 days a week for him to train until he was 18.

Within a year, Thomas was the U12 British champion, the start of a very successful junior career which saw him become a schoolboy international in 1983, and represent Britain in the European Junior Championships in 1984 and 1986. Educated at Thomas Adams School, Wem, at 18, Thomas moved up to the Senior squad and on to the Liverpool School of Physical Education for several years before continuing his training at Lilleshall.

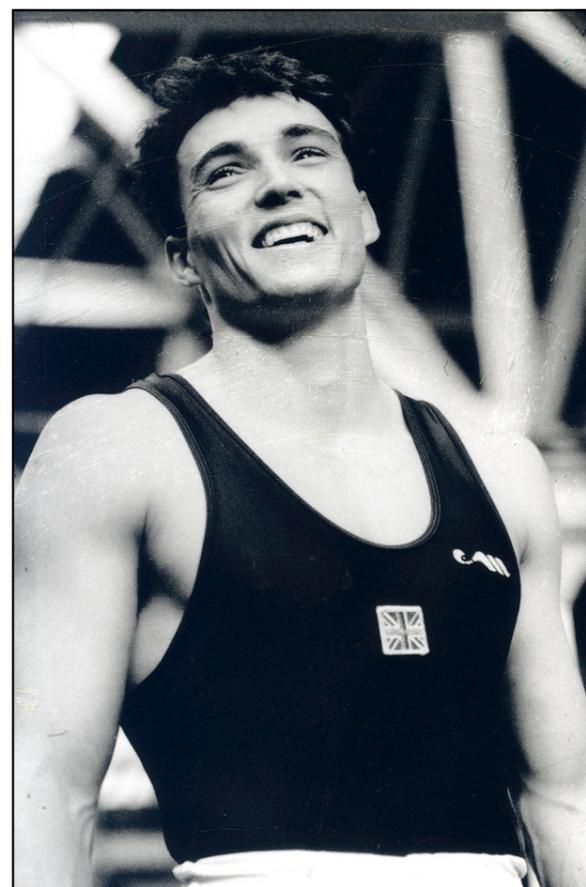

Throughout his career, Thomas showed an explosive and brilliant talent for the Floor exercise and the Vault. From his first major Senior tournament, he won medals regularly for these pieces at top level, but developed his spontaneity, strength and style to become a dynamic all-rounder.

Building on Commonwealth Gold medal success in Auckland on the Floor in 1990, and whilst studying for a Sports Science degree at Liverpool John Moores University from 1993, Thomas entered a purple patch achieving Gold medal Floor and All-round success and a Bronze medal in the Vault at the Victoria Games in 1994. Thomas also won World Championship Silver medals in the Floor event in 1993 in Birmingham (the UK's first ever World Championship medal in artistic gymnastics) and in Brisbane in 1994. He also competed in the 1992 Barcelona Olympics, finishing in 20th place. He is one of the most successful British gymnasts of all time and is recognised as having put British Men's Gymnastics on the map in the 1990s, and is still an inspiration to many young British gymnasts today.

For his services to Gymnastics and in recognition of his achievement in raising the profile of British Men's Gymnastics, Thomas was awarded the Member of the Order of the British Empire (MBE) in the 1995 New Year Honours.

Thomas carried the flag for the GB team in the World Student Games in 1995 but announced his retirement from International Competition soon after.

Neil Thomas now works as a Family Link Worker in Liverpool.

Professional Golfer

Image: IMG Copyright

Born in Oswestry in 1958, Woosnam grew up in nearby St Martin's. A powerful player, Woosnam took up golf at Llanymynech Golf Club, playing as an amateur for Shropshire in regional competitions alongside Sandy Lyle.

Turning professional in 1976, he joined the European Tour in 1979 but his career took off in 1982 when he won the Swiss Open. Woosnam was ranked 8th on the European Tour Order of Merit (leading money winners) that year and finished in the top 10 every year from 1983 to 1991 and again in 1993, 1996, and 1997; 13 times in all. He was top of the list in 1987 (becoming the first player to win £1 million prize money in a single year) and 1990.

In the 1986 Open Championship, Woosnam placed 3rd. Selected as the European Tour Golfer of the Year in 1987, in the December, Woosnam won the BBC Wales Sports Personality of the Year Award for the first time, receiving the award again in 1990 and 1991. Reaching the top of the Official World Golf Rankings in 1991, Woosnam stayed there for a total of 50 weeks. In the same year, he won the US Masters Tournament in Atlanta.

From 1992-2001, Woosnam won another 12 tournaments around the world. He was one of the 'Big 5' along with Ballesteros, Faldo, Langer and Lyle who dominated world golf in the 80's and 90's, but in the late 1990s his form began to wane.

Woosnam nearly made a spectacular comeback at The Open Championship in 2001, finishing 3rd despite suffering a 2-stroke penalty for his caddie's mistake in including an extra club in his bag on the final round. His 2001 World Match Play victory meant he was the only player to have won the tournament in 3 different decades.

From 1983-1997, Woosnam was a member of 8 consecutive European Ryder Cup teams. He was a Vice Captain for the 2002 European team and, elected as Captain, he led Europe to victory over the US, winning all 5 sessions in the 2006 Ryder Cup at the K-Club, Ireland.

Woosnam was awarded an OBE in the 2007 New Years Honours List for his services to golf.

Woosnam joined the European Seniors Tour in March 2008, after turning 50, and in July of that year, on his 3rd appearance, he won his first stroke play title in 11 years in a course record of 63 at the Polish Seniors Championship. Woosnam went on to win the European Seniors Tour Order of Merit that year, the only person to have won the Order of Merit on both the European Seniors and regular Tour. He has won 3 further Seniors Tour titles to date.

Ian Woosnam now lives in Jersey.

Dan, Gee and Rachel Atherton

b 25th January 1982, 26th February 1985 and 6th December 1987

Mountain Bike Racers

Siblings Dan, Gee and Rachel Atherton, professional racing cyclists and the most decorated family in the history of mountain biking, have raced together as a team since 2007. Over the past 5 years, they have seen over 50 professional victories and multiple World titles.

Dan, the eldest, specialises in Downhill and 4X mountain bike racing, and is a former National champion of Great Britain. He began riding BMX at the age of 15 and mountain biking a year later. In 2010 Dan broke a vertebrae in his neck whilst training, a life-threatening ordeal that ruled him out for half of the season including the World Championships. He has now moved his focus towards Enduro-style events.

Gee specialises in Downhill and 4X mountain bike racing, and is a multiple National champion, multiple World Cup winner and 2010 Downhill World Cup Champion. While Gee has avoided major injury, missing just one World Cup podium from 2008 to 2010, last year 2 mechanicals and one uncharacteristically poor ride kept him out of the top five three times. The middle Atherton is credited as being one of the most progressive riders of all time, enjoying magazine cover and TV appearances. Gee even appeared on BBC's Top Gear, racing a Renault Clio down the streets of Lisbon and winning! Dan, Rachel and Gee star in a reality video web series "The Atherton Project" which follows their day to day lives.

Rachel specialises in Downhill mountain bike racing and is a multiple National champion. She began riding BMX at the age of 8 and mountain biking at the age of 11. In 2005 she was both Sunday Times' Sportswoman of the Year and BBC Midlands Junior Sportswoman of the Year. In 2008 she won both the World Cup series and the Elite UCI Downhill World Championship and received the BBC Midlands Sportswoman of the Year. In January 2009 she was involved in a training accident with a truck in California, sustaining a serious shoulder injury which ruled her out of the 2009 racing season. Returning with a fresh attitude, 2011 saw her consolidate, taking 3rd place in the series and a Silver medal at the Worlds.

In 2012 Dan, Gee, and Rachel joined non-family GT rider Marc Beaumont to form the new team GT Factory Racing.

The Athertons currently live in Llangynog and have their team HQ in Shrewsbury.

John Ivor Disley CBE

b 20th November 1928

Long Distance Runner

Born in Corris in November 1928, Disley moved with his family to Gobowen and attended Oswestry Boys High School where his running was limited to annual cross country events and school sports. His athletics career only began as a student in 1946 at Loughborough College when Disley met tutor Geoffrey Dyson, Loughborough's athletics director, who became his mentor.

In the 1949 Welsh Championships, Disley won the first of his 4 Welsh mile titles in a modest time but in 1953, he set a new Welsh record of 4:10.6 improving this on 5 further occasions to end with a best of 4:05.4 in June 1958.

In September 1951, Disley broke his own British and Commonwealth record for the 3,000m steeplechase, his main event, with a time of 9:11.6 at a meeting at the White City, London, beating Chris Brasher into 5th place.

Disley represented GB at the Helsinki Olympic Games in 1952. Winning the 2nd heat, he improved his record, becoming the first British athlete to better 9 minutes. Sadly, in the final, he came up against the inspired American Horace Ashenfelter and, despite another big improvement on his record, was beaten into Bronze place. Disley's Olympic medal was only the 2nd to be won by a Welshman in an individual track event.

Disley won 3 AAA steeplechase titles, including the 2 mile event in 1952 in a world's best time (9:44.0). During his career, he set 18 Welsh records at 1,500m, mile, 3,000m, 3,000m and 2 mile steeplechase and 5,000m. Disley was disappointed to finish 13th and 10th respectively in the European Championships in 1950 (Brussels) and 1954 (Berne). In 1952 he was voted British Athlete of the Year and won the Welsh Sports Personality of the Year award in 1955.

The 1956 Melbourne Olympics saw him start as Britain's number one, and although he ran 8:44.6 he only finished 6th in the final won by Chris Brasher in a new British and Olympic record 8:41.2.

The steeplechase, last held in 1934, returned to the Commonwealth Games in 1962. Instead, for the Commonwealth Games, in Vancouver in 1954, Disley competed in the 1 mile (finishing 5th in his heat, improving his own Welsh mile record by 1.2 seconds with 4:09.0) and the 3 miles in 1958 in Cardiff when he pulled out with Achilles tendon problems.

From 1951-55, Disley also found time to be a PE teacher at Isleworth Grammar School, leaving to take up the appointment as the first Chief Instructor and Acting Warden of Plas y Brenin, the new Centre for Mountain Activities in Snowdonia. He was a leading pioneer of Orienteering in Britain, breaking the record for the traverse of the Welsh 3,000 foot peaks. Disley received the CBE in 1979 for his work in outdoor education.

In 1981, together with Chris Brasher, he founded the London Marathon which remains one of the great marathons of the world.

Anthony Hughes

b 26th September 1959

Paralympic Athlete and Coach

Born in 1959, Anthony Hughes suffered from Muscular Dystrophy and attended the Derwen College, Gobowen as a student. He stayed on as a teacher and was appointed Head of Department where he enjoyed a lengthy stay. As a wheelchair user, he took up Athletics, specialising in the throwing events and competing as a Shot Putter and Javelin thrower to an elite level.

From 1980, Hughes was part of Team GB, competing in the Paralympic Athlete Shot and Javelin. In 1990 he took the International Paralympic Committee (IPC) Athletics World Championships Silver Medal in the Shot in Assen, Holland and went on to compete in the 1992 Barcelona Spain Paralympic Games gaining a top 4 place.

In 1994, Hughes took the 1994 IPC World Championships World Record in Shot in Berlin but retired from competition that year due to a medical injury and became fully focused on coaching.

Whilst at The Derwen, Hughes had started coaching and development across all impairment groups in disability, but he now moved up to Elite level and coached his first Paralympic athlete to a Silver medal in the 1996 Paralympic Games in Atlanta. Since then he has coached, developed or managed over 40 World or International Athletes and attended the last 3 Paralympic Games in Sydney, Athens and Beijing.

Now living in Penarth, Hughes is the National Performance Manager for Disability Sport Wales and heads up the Performance and Excellence Unit based at the Welsh Institute of Sport in Cardiff. Within this unit, he is credited with developing the renowned Academy programme which currently has 54 athlete members over 8 Paralympic sports. Of the 31 Welsh athletes in the GB squad at the Beijing Paralympics, 9 of these were first time Paralympians who had passed through the Academy programme.

He is also the Head Coach and National Programme Manager for the Elite Disability Athletics Programme based at the National Indoor Athletics Centre at the University of Wales, Cardiff. He focuses primarily on Athletics Seated Throwers including the javelin star Nathan Stephens, 2011 Gold medal winner at the IPC World Championships in New Zealand and World Record holder, who is a hopeful for the 2012 London Paralympics.

In 2011, for his work with the Academy, Hughes received the prestigious Sport Wales Coach of the Year Award. He also took the award in the Coach to Disabled Performers category and was awarded the 2011 UK Athletics Elite Paralympic Coach of the Year recognising that he has made Wales one of the most successful pound-for-pound nations in world para-sport.

"I strive to be the very best I can be on the world stage, as well as all the people around me," says Hughes.

Robert Topham

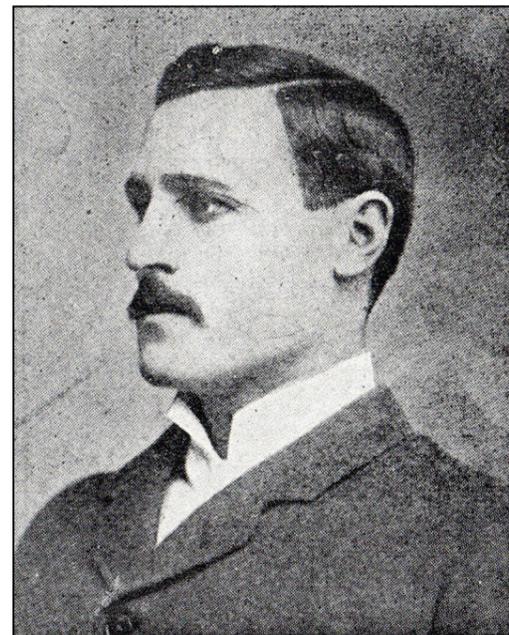

3rd November 1867 - 31st August 1931

Association Football - Outside Right

Robert Topham was born in Ellesmere in 1867 and was educated at Oswestry School from 1878 to 1886. During his time at school he excelled at sport, captaining the school teams at football and cricket.

Playing at Outside Right, Topham was said to be a speedy football player and difficult to contain. Whilst at school, he played for Oswestry FC, Runners Up in the Welsh Cup replay v Druids in 1884-1885 after Topham had scored in the first match at the Racecourse Ground, Wrexham. In the same year, Topham was selected by the Welsh FA to play for Wales v Scotland but declined the opportunity to appear in his first international whilst still a schoolboy.

Topham went up to Keble College, Oxford in 1886 where he was a member of the Keble Football XI from 1886-1889, captaining the team in the last year. Despite representing the university in several first-class matches, Topham did not gain his 'blue', and from 1891-1896, although he remained an amateur throughout his playing career, Topham was registered to play with the professional side Wolverhampton Wanderers, scoring 19 goals in 32 appearances.

The highlight of Topham's Wolves career was the 1892-1893 season when Wolves met Everton in the FA Cup final, winning 1-0 in difficult conditions as the spectators crowded to the very edges of the pitch and impeded the players.

Topham could have been said to have been a gentleman player who dabbled briefly in the world of the working class professional. In the early 1890s, he also played for the London FA teams London Casuals and Chiswick Park, winning an FA Amateur Cup Runners Up medal with Casuals in 1894.

From 1894 to 1898, he was also a member of Corinthians, a club dedicated to the amateur spirit, reputed to be a team of gentlemen. Composed mainly of ex-public school amateurs, they refused to enter cup competitions believing that fair play was the most important part of football. Perhaps their most important role was as ambassadors for English football, touring widely around Europe and the world. Topham played his part, captaining their first ever foreign tour to South Africa in 1897.

Topham played for England twice; in 1892 as a Wolves player and later in 1894. Topham's brother Arthur was also a footballer and played for England twice although he never dallied with the professional game.

Robert Topham retired to be a school master after football, and died in Kent in 1931.

Mark 'Fossy' Fosbrook

b 13th December 1975

Wheelchair Basketball

Fossy was born with Lobster Claw Syndrome in Portsmouth in 1975. With two fingers on each hand and with no feet or ankles, Fossy's disability is severe, but he can wear two artificial legs and walk around quite happily. However there are times when it is easier to use his wheelchair.

Fossy went through mainstream education and threw himself into sports, playing on the school hockey and athletics teams, but volleyball captured his imagination. Studying leisure management at college and university, he captained the University of Gloucestershire Men's Volleyball Team (Able Bodied) between 1994 and 1998.

Between 1995 and 2000, Fossy was part of the GB Men's Standing Volleyball Team and represented GB in the 1996 Atlanta Paralympics.

However, it was Wheelchair Rugby where Fossy found his niche, playing for the Midland Bandits Wheelchair Rugby Team from 2003 to 2004 and the North Wales Dragons Wheelchair Rugby Team from 2006 to 2009. A member of the GB Wheelchair Rugby Team from 2003 to 2008, ongoing issues with the classification of his disability saw him miss both the Athens and Beijing Paralympics where, sidelined after months of training, he managed the GB Team in Beijing.

Since 2005, Whittington resident Fossy has been a member of the RGK TCAT Rhinos Wheelchair Basketball Team in the RGK Super League, the top national league, and has achieved Super League and Cup, and European success over recent seasons with them.

Part of the GB squad for the build up to the London Paralympics, Fossy had dedicated himself to gaining selection in the memory of his still-born daughter Lily, losing almost 20kg with a punishing training schedule of dawn and evening sessions fitted in around his full-time work as a Disability Sport and Physical Activity Officer. The disappointment of missing out on the final team selection was, however, instantly eclipsed by the birth of his son Archie in May 2012. Fossy is looking to the future now, to B internationals, European and World Championships and then even the next Paralympics!

"I have competed in various sports at a variety of levels." he says, "I have always used sport as a stage to show people what I can do."

Ruth Martin-Jones

b 28th January 1947

Long Jumper and Pentathlete

History of Welsh Athletics

Ruth Martin-Jones was born in Criccieth in January 1947 and moved to Shropshire in 1953. Educated at Oswestry Girls High School where her mother was a teacher, she took up the High Jump and came 2nd in the English Schools' High Jump in 1960 and 1961. Joining Shrewsbury LAC, she concentrated on sprinting from 1963-66.

Ruth studied French and German at Birmingham University from 1965 and was a member of the university athletics team, joining Birchfield Harriers in 1968. In 1967, Ruth won in the British Universities (BU) Championships for the first time, in both the 100m Hurdles and the Long Jump. Competing annually in the BU games until 1970, Ruth won 14 BU titles; twice winning the combined Pentathlon event in 1969 and 1970.

At the age of 23, Ruth represented Wales at the 1970 Edinburgh Commonwealth Games in both the Long Jump and the Pentathlon. Ruth placed 9th in the Long Jump, with a Welsh record distance, and 6th in the Pentathlon, also in a new personal best (PB), the 1st of her

5 Welsh records, behind Mary Peters who won with a new Commonwealth and UK record score.

At an Indoor Athletics competition in 1971, GB took on the strong East German team with Ruth providing the biggest surprise by any member of the British team by jumping over 5" further in the Long Jump than she had ever done indoors. That year Ruth broke her leg whilst High Jumping but returned to competition by May 1972, coming 2nd to Mary Peters at Crystal Palace, with an Olympic qualifying standard, beating her PBs in all events but the Shot.

Now concentrating on the Long Jump, Ruth was selected for GB for the 1972 Munich Olympics but did not progress out of the qualifying rounds.

The East German women carried all before them in retaining the European Cup in 1973. Ruth placed 3rd for the GB team in the Long Jump with 6.30m.

In 1974, Ruth became the first Welsh woman to win a medal at the Commonwealth Games when she took the Bronze in the Long Jump in the Christchurch Games with a leap of 6.38m. She continued to compete for Birchfield and was selected for GB against Russia at Crystal Palace in 1975. Ruth married Ray Howell later that year.

Ruth Howell returned to the Pentathlon in 1976, setting more Welsh records in the new version, placing 6th in the Pentathlon and 7th in the Long Jump at the Edmonton Commonwealth Games in 1978. The following month she set a new UK record for the Heptathlon event at a meeting in Birmingham, which was also her career personal best Pentathlon score.

Ruth married Alan Swinhoe in 1989 and may have been spotted in a 10k race in Hertfordshire as a Super Veteran in 2009/10!

b 31st December 1949

Archery

David Page has been a successful archer with all types of bows after shooting his first arrow when his interest in archery began in 1978. His greatest competitive triumph was winning the British Archery Clout Championship in 1979 which entailed accurately shooting 120 arrows at a flag (known as "the Clout") in the ground at 180 yards distance. Points are scored depending on how close each arrow lands to the flag; most of the arrows land within 12" of the flag, no mean feat from that distance.

On moving to Treflach 30 years ago, David transferred to the local club, Croesoswallt Archers, where he began coaching, became its Chairman and is now the Club's Records Officer. He has been ably supported by his wife Jean, the Club Secretary, an ex-archer and a qualified tournament judge. Croesoswallt Archers was formed in 1957 at the Orthopaedic Hospital when archery was introduced for the purposes of patient rehabilitation. The Club still practises within the hospital grounds.

David has the distinction of representing the region of North Wales when shooting the Recurve Bow and is President of the North Wales Archery Society.

It is, however, as an organiser of national tournaments and as a British and European International Judge that he is best known having been at the top of his sport as an international official for 25 years. As a tournament organiser, David has been responsible for running major British and World Record Status competitions in Wales. In addition, he ran the British Junior Championships in 1989 and 1991 and the Euronations' Tournament in 1993 which was won by the Welsh team. Part of the organising committee for the World Junior Championships in 2004, David has been the Director of Shooting at Island Games World events (second only to the Olympics) and the World Cup in 2007.

David's judging career reached another peak when he had the honour to be selected to be judge and the Director of Shooting for the London Paralympics 2012 - a proud achievement. Of his selection for this role David said "It's a great honour and the pinnacle of my archery career." He has a particular interest in the paraplegic performers and regularly officiates at the tournaments held at Stoke Mandeville hospital and the National Sports Centre, Lilleshall.

In addition to his international and national commitments he regularly helps out at club training nights. He advises the club officials, maintains the records, attends committee meetings, contributes to the club newsletter and advises the novices.

Croesoswallt's quiet and unassuming toxophilite has achieved national and international status in his sport, a fact unbeknown to most people.

Malcolm Tarkenter

b 22nd February 1957

Wheelchair Basketball

A freak accident in 1974 at the age of 17 brought to an end Malcolm's previous life as an apprentice plumber. Within a year Malcolm had joined Oldham Owls becoming one of the earliest members of this fledging disability sports club and competing in his first Nationals at basketball.

Malcolm then joined the Sheffield side Lodge Moor based at the unit where he had undertaken treatment and rehabilitation after his accident. He was to spend 12 years with them, gaining his first international honour in 1979 when he was a member of the Great Britain (GB) U23 team that took part in a tournament in Auch in France. In 1980 Malcolm was selected to represent GB at the Paralympics in Arnhem .

Within 2 years of his move to Oswestry in 1985, Malcolm had become a founder member of the Oswestry club, helping them gain 4th place in their first Nationals.

In 1989 Malcolm returned to the Owls for a second successful spell being a member of their Championship winning teams in 1989, 1990 and 1997 and achieving the League and Cup double in 1996 and 1998.

Malcolm was recalled to the GB team that won silver in the 1994 World Championships in Edmonton. In 1995 he helped his country to win Gold in the European Nations Championships in Paris and in 1997 he was also a member of the team that narrowly failed to retain that trophy in Madrid. His greatest achievement came when he helped GB to win Silver at the 1996 Paralympic Games in Atlanta.

After playing wheelchair basketball for over 30 years and with more than 200 GB caps, in 1998 Malcolm decided to call time on his international career and gain his coaching badges. In 1999 he became assistant coach to the GB Women's team that won Bronze in the European Wheelchair Championships at Roermond in Holland and competed at the 2000 Paralympics in Sydney.

Malcolm now serves British Wheelchair Basketball as Chairman of the organisation in a completely voluntary capacity. Still an active member of his Oldham Owls club where he is Vice Chairman, he travels there from Oswestry at least twice a week to support the activity in the club which stretches far beyond wheelchair basketball to other sports and physical activity.

Malcolm supports people in the Spinal Injuries Unit, Oswestry in their rehabilitation through offering sporting opportunities together with advice and support as someone who benefited from the same support many years ago.

In Summer 2012, the British Paralympic Association (BPA) recognised Malcolm's contribution to his sport when he was one of 20 athletes nominated to carry the Paralympic torch on its overnight journey from Stoke Mandeville to London.

Glyn Oliver 'Boaz' Myhill

b 9th November 1982

Association Football - Goalkeeper

Image: Football Association of Wales

The son of an American father and Welsh mother, Glyn Oliver 'Boaz' Myhill was born in Modesto, California moving to England when just one. Growing up in Weston Rhyn, Myhill attended The Marches School where he showed great interest in all sports. A talented Shropshire junior cricketer, and member of Oswestry Cricket Club, Myhill also joined Oswestry Boys Club football team where he found his passion for the game, invariably playing in mid-field.

Aged 12, Myhill was signed by Aston Villa where he began to develop his goalkeeping skills alongside such stars as David James and Peter Schmeichel at Villa Park. Agreeing a professional contract in 2000, a number of loan spells saw him learning his trade at Stoke City and Bristol City, earning call ups to the England youth and U20 sides along the way. Further loan spells at Bradford City and Macclesfield Town followed where he also impressed. However, at the end of the Town deal, Myhill was once again sent out on loan this time to struggling Stockport County who wanted him on a permanent basis. Now 21 and unable to break into the Villa first team, Myhill made the decision to sign instead for Hull City for £50,000 in December 2003.

For the next six and a half seasons, Myhill was Hull's first choice goalkeeper earning back to back promotions with Hull from the old Division Three to the Football League Championship and was voted Hull City's Player of the Year in season 2005-06. By winning promotion with Hull to the Premier League for the first time in May 2008, Myhill was one of only four Hull City players to have taken their club up through all four divisions.

In July 2010, Myhill left Hull for West Bromwich Albion on a 3-year contract for an officially undisclosed fee of £1.5 million. For the 2011-12 season, Myhill was loaned to Championship club Birmingham City, exchanging places with Birmingham and England goalkeeper Ben Foster. Myhill was first choice goalkeeper for Birmingham's league matches for most of the season, making his European debut in the Europa League play-off round first leg against Portuguese club Nacional and receiving the Football League Precision Goalkeeping Golden Glove for October 2011.

Capped by England at U20 level, his eligibility to play for the US or any of the home nations was unaffected. Declining the chance to play for Wales in 2006, Myhill made his Welsh debut in March 2008. Playing mostly as deputy to first-choice Wayne Hennessey, Myhill appeared 19 times for Wales, retiring from international football in May 2014.

Returning from the Birmingham loan, Myhill's first team chances have been limited by West Bromwich Albion's permanent signing of Foster in June 2012. However, following Foster's injury-enforced six month layoff in March 2015, Myhill has stepped up as West Bromwich Albion's first choice keeper to try to ensure their Premier League safety.
